

Professional Pet Groomers Association of Manitoba

Today is the day, I've been waiting for
It's a little bit grey and gloomy for sure

But today I am going to be one happy pup
I have a date with my groomer and things are looking up

She smiles when she see's me and gives me a treat
I give her a wag, my usual greet

She takes me back to our special spot
Up on that table, I like it a lot

Sometimes I'm high maintenance, just for some fun
But I always settle so she can get her job done

She touches me with care, in that back room
She washes, and combs and leaves me perfectly groomed

She takes pride in making me look so fine
Soft and sweet smiling and perfectly divine

My ears feel much better, there are no more matts
Even my rear end is ready to get some nice pats

But my modest dog groomer isn't aware
Of how important it is that she takes such great care

She thinks anyone could do the job that she does
When in fact she's so special, she's the only one

That can handle my owner and handle me
If we are grumpy or late or squawk about the fee

I love this pet groomer I see just see once in a while
She makes me doggone pretty and she makes me doggone smile

And if I had one little wish
I'd give her more than a wet-lick kiss

I use my request to ask for two little words
And I'd thank my pet groomer, and my words would be heard

For all that she is and all that she does
For all that she gives me, I'm in puppy love!
